Our success as a team depends on clear communication and understanding. To help you with some basics, we've prepared this policy manual which you should read and refer to often. If you have questions about our policies, please don't hesitate to ask a manager.

These policies set the ground rules for a safe and pleasant work environment. In these pages, you will learn what we expect from you. Your adherence to these policies may affect your performance evaluations and continued employment. You will also learn what you can expect from us, such as certain rights and benefits; and how to resolve conflicts if they arise. Ultimately, these policies help our team focus on the reason we come to work each day – our guests.

Again, welcome to the team. I hope you find success and fulfillment in our company.

Sincerely,

La Pasha Management

I. EMPLOYMENT PROCESS

These policies have been revised and are effective as of March 1, 2023. This manual supersedes all prior versions of The Company's employee manual. No employee manual can anticipate every circumstance or question regarding employment policies. As our organization continues to grow, the need may arise and The Company reserves the right to revise, supplement, or rescind any policies or portions of the employee manual from time to time as appropriate, in their sole and absolute discretion. Employees will, of course, be notified of any future changes to the manual as they occur.

A. Nature of Employment

NOTHING IN THIS EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK OR IN ANY DOCUMENT OR STATEMENT, WRITTEN OR ORAL, SHALL LIMIT THE RIGHT TO TERMINATE EMPLOYMENT AT -WILL. NO OFFICER, EMPLOYEE OR REPRESENTATIVE OF THE COMPANY IS AUTHORIZED TO ENTER INTO AN AGREEMENT—EXPRESS OR IMPLIED—with any employee for employment for a specified period of time unless such an agreement is in a written contract signed by the HR Department or President of the Company.

Nothing in this handbook will be interpreted, applied, or enforced to interfere with, restrain, coerce employees or unlawfully restrict an employee's right to engage in any of the rights guaranteed to them by Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act, including but not limited to, the right to engage in concerted protected activity for the purposes of their mutual aid and/or protection. This manual is confidential company information and company property.

These provisions supersede all existing policies and practices and may not be amended or added to without the express written approval of The Company's President. The Company has the right to unilaterally change or delete any practice, policy, procedure, or rule within or not within this manual.

B. Equal Opportunity Employer

The Company provides equal employment opportunity to all individuals and to not discrimination against anyone regardless of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, disability, pregnancy, military status, veteran status, or any other characteristic or class. The Company's equal employment policy, however, does not amount to consent to be bound by any laws to which it is not subject, submit to the jurisdiction of any administrative agency responsible for the enforcement of federal law, or submit to the jurisdiction of any federal court interpreting such laws until such time as the Company employs fifteen employees.

Any employee with questions or concerns about any type of discrimination in the workplace should bring these issues to the attention of their immediate supervisor or the Administrator. Employees can raise concerns and make reports without fear of reprisal. Anyone found to be engaging in any type of unlawful discrimination will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

C. Immigration Law Compliance and Employment Eligibility Verification

Any employee who has been terminated and removed from payroll must complete a new I-9 if the employee is subsequently rehired.

Employees with questions or seeking more information on immigration law issues are encouraged to contact their supervisor, the Administrator or Human Resource Coordinator. Employees may raise questions or complaints about immigration law compliance without fear of reprisal.

D. Employment Reference Checks

To ensure that individuals who join the employer are well qualified and have a strong potential to be productive and successful, it is the policy of The Company to check the employment references of applicants.

The Company will respond in writing only to those reference check inquiries that are submitted in writing. Unless otherwise required to be disclosed by legal process (e.g., subpoena), responses to such inquiries will confirm only dates of employment, wage rates, and position(s) held. No employment data will be released without a written authorization and release signed by the individual who is the subject of the inquiry. All job reference inquiries by prospective employers should be directed to The Company's President.

E. Employment Applications

The Company relies upon the accuracy of information contained in the employment application, as well as the accuracy of other data presented throughout the hiring process and employment. Any misrepresentations, falsifications, or material omissions in any of this information or data may result in the exclusion of the individual from further consideration for employment or, if the person has been hired, termination from employment.

F. Pre-Employment Drug Screening

The Company may require prospective employees to pass a pre-employment drug screen as a condition of employment prior to their start date. The Company will not hire individuals who test positive for the illegal use of a controlled or synthetic substance.

Individuals who report to work under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol may be required to submit to a drug test. If this occurs, an agent of the Company will transport the employee to an approved testing facility. Testing will be conducted in accordance with the law.

G. Hiring of Relatives

The employment of relatives in an organization may cause serious conflicts and problems with favoritism and employee morale. In addition to claims of partiality in treatment at work, personal conflicts from outside work environment can be carried into day-to-day working relationships. Therefore, The Company discourages the employment of relatives, but will permit such employment of relatives if: (1) such relationship is fully disclosed; and (2) such employment is approved by Management.

For the purpose of this policy, a relative is any person who is related by blood or marriage, or whose relationship with the employee is similar to that of persons who are related by blood or marriage.

H. Employee Personal Relationships

What employees do on their own time away from work is private unless it negatively impacts their performance in the workplace. The manner in which you conduct yourselves at work is subject to company policies and procedures. Consequently, the Company strictly prohibits personal relationships of a romantic nature between an employee and any other employee in a supervisor position with relation to that employee. The Company also strongly discourages peer to peer relationships of a romantic nature.

While The Company reserves the right to terminate any employee who violates this policy, The Company acknowledges such relationships may occur. Any employee who becomes involved in a romantic relationship with another employee shall immediately disclose such relationship by contacting Human Resources as set forth below depending on which location employed:

3. agrees to abide by the Company's sexual harassment policy;
4. agrees to refrain from personal conduct on company premises that creates tension with co-workers or causes other employees to feel uncomfortable or offended; and
5. acknowledges that if a conflict of interest is present in a relationship, The Company will endeavor to find a solution to eliminate the conflict of interest so that one person is no longer able to unduly influence or favor the other. (Such solution may include transfer or relocation of one of the employees to another department or location, or change the reporting structure, if feasible and available. If reasonable alternatives are not available or feasible, The Company may require one or both of the employees to resign or be terminated.)

II. EMPLOYMENT STATUS

A. Employment Categories

It is the intent of The Company to clarify the definitions of employment classifications so that employees understand their employment status and benefit eligibility. These classifications do not guarantee employment for any specified period of time. Accordingly, the right to terminate the employment relationship at will at any time is retained by both the employee and The Company. These categories are also subject to change as necessary from time to time.

B. Exempt and Nonexempt Status

Each employee is designated as either NONEXEMPT or EXEMPT from overtime pay under applicable federal and state wage and hour laws. NONEXEMPT employees are entitled to overtime pay under the specific provisions of federal and state laws. EXEMPT employees are excluded from specific provisions of federal and state wage and hour laws. The exemption applies to executive, administrative and professional employees as defined by the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act. Employees classified as exempt are excluded from the payment of overtime and are paid on a salary basis. An employee's EXEMPT or NONEXEMPT classification may be changed only upon written notification by The Company.

C. Work Status Categories

In addition to the above categories, each employee will be classified under one of the following 3 employment categories:

REGULAR FULL-TIME employees are those who are not in a temporary status and who are regularly scheduled to work employer's full-time schedule. Generally, they are eligible for employer's benefit package, subject to the terms, conditions, and limitations of each benefit program. This category includes employees who work an average of at least 30 hours or more per week as part of their work schedule.

REGULAR PART-TIME employees are those who work an average of less than 30 hours per week as part of their work schedule. These employees are not eligible for employment related benefits.

D. Tipped Employees

Tip Credit Notice Employer utilizes the tip credit provision permitted by the Fair Labor Standards Act. Under this provision, you will be paid a base hourly rate of $7.25. Employer will claim a tip credit of $5.12 per hour and the minimum cash wage (currently $2.13/hour) which is the maximum allowed by federal law.

Under the Act, we are required to notify you of our intention to utilize the tip credit. This provision serves as notification of Employer's use of the tip credit and your signature to this manual confirms your receipt of and understanding of the Employer's use of the tip credit.. You also should know that the additional amount claimed by Employer on account of tips as the tip credit may not exceed the value of the tips received by you.

Credit Card Fee Credit card tips are subject to a credit card fee which will be deducted from such tips.

Tax Reporting Finally, you should be aware that the IRS requires employees to report all of their tips as taxable income on annual tax returns.

Disputes Employees who believe they have not received all tips due to them should immediately report the issue to the restaurant manager. If the restaurant manager does not respond or address the issue the employee should report the issue to Human Resources as follows:

E. Employee Performance Evaluation

Supervisors and employees are strongly encouraged to discuss job performance and goals on an informal, day-to-day basis. Performance evaluations are generally conducted annually, providing both supervisors and employees the opportunity to discuss performance and any appropriate performance improvement plans, goals, and objectives. Evaluations may be written or oral. The performance review process is also a tool to evaluate the appropriateness of changes in an employee's wage rate, salary, or other compensation.

F. Employee Access to Personnel Records

Employees' access to his or her personnel file will be permitted consistent with the laws of the State of Texas or in which the employee is located.

Many of the records that The Company maintains, including information about employees, are considered confidential information, and cannot be openly shared Employees have the right to request certain types of records under the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) regulations. This includes, but is not limited to, copies of the current or stored OSHA 300 Logs as described in 29 CFR 1904.35 and certain records described in 1919.1020, Access to employee exposure and medical records.

G. Personnel Data Changes

- Your home address and/or telephone number
- The person to notify in an emergency
- Your marital status (including divorce)
- Your number and name of dependents
- Tax form W-4 changes
- Successful completion of any accredited courses, seminars, and workshops Other such status reports

Failure to notify The Company of changes to your contact information may create delays in providing certain benefits.

III. EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PROGRAMS AND LEAVE

A. Employee Benefits

Eligible employees are provided a wide range of benefits. A number of the programs (such as Social Security, and unemployment insurance) cover all employees in the manner prescribed by law.

Benefits eligibility is dependent upon a variety of factors, including employee classification. Management can identify the programs for which you are eligible. Details of many of these programs can be found elsewhere in the employee manual.

B. Employee Meals

Vacations may not be permitted on certain black-out dates.

Requests for time off must be submitted to the location manager or Director of Operations in writing three weeks prior to the anticipated vacation day, unless otherwise not practicable.

The Company will make every effort to accommodate properly requested time off but does not guarantee every request.

Sick Leave/Paid Time Off for Managers Managers are eligible for up to two (2) paid sick days and one week (5 business days) Paid Time Off commensurate with their tenure and experience.

D. Benefits Continuation (COBRA)

The Company will abide by the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act ("COBRA") providing COBRA coverage for those employees who are qualified beneficiaries.

E. Family and Medical Leaves of Absence

The Company complies with the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and will grant up to 12 weeks of leave during a 12-month period to eligible employees (or up to 26 weeks of military caregiver leave).

The purpose of this policy is to provide employees with a general description of their FMLA rights. In the event of any conflict between this policy and the applicable law, employees will be afforded all rights required by law. If you have any questions, concerns or disputes with this policy, please contact Management.

Eligibility

To be eligible for leave under this policy, employees must meet all of the following requirements:

- Have worked at least twelve (12) months for The Company.
- Have worked at least 1,250 hours for The Company over the twelve (12) months preceding the date the leave would commence.
- Currently work at a location where there are at least fifty (50) employees within seventy-five (75) miles.

The 12 months of employment do not have to be consecutive. All periods of absence from work due to or necessitated by service in the uniformed services are counted as hours worked in determining eligibility.

Reasons for Leave

To qualify as FMLA leave under this policy, the leave must be for one of the following reasons:

- The birth of a child or placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care.
- To care for a spouse, child or parent who has a serious health condition.
- For a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the essential functions of his or her job.
- For any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that a spouse, child or parent is a military member on covered active duty or on call to covered active duty status.
- To care for a covered service member with a serious injury or illness.

Amount of Leave

An eligible employee can take up to 12 weeks of FMLA leave during any 12-month period. The company will measure the 12-month period as a rolling 12-month period measured backward from the date an employee uses any leave under this policy. Each time an employee takes leave, the company will compute the amount of leave the employee has taken under this policy in the last 12 months and subtract it from the 12 weeks of available leave, and the balance remaining is the amount the employee is entitled to take at that time.

An eligible employee can take up to 26 weeks for the FMLA military caregiver leave during a single 12-month period. For this military caregiver leave, the company will measure the 12-month period as a rolling 12-month period measured forward. FMLA leave already taken for other FMLA circumstances will be deducted from the total of 26 weeks available.

Eligible spouses who both work for the company may only take a combined total of 12 weeks of leave for the birth of a child, adoption or placement of a child in foster care, or to care for a parent (but not a parent "in-law") with a serious health condition. Both may only take a combined total of 26 weeks of leave to care for a covered injured or ill service member (if each spouse is a parent, spouse, child or next of kin of the service member).

Intermittent Leave or a Reduced Work Schedule

Employees may take FMLA leave in one consecutive block of time, may use the leave intermittently (take a day periodically when needed over the year) or, under certain circumstances, may use the leave to reduce the workweek or workday, resulting in a reduced hour schedule. In all cases, the leave may not exceed a total of 12 workweeks (or 26 workweeks to care for an injured or ill service member) in a 12-month period.

The company may temporarily transfer an employee to an available alternative position with equivalent pay and benefits if the alternative position would better accommodate the intermittent or reduced schedule, in instances when leave for the employee or employee's family member is foreseeable and for planned medical treatment, including recovery from a serious health condition or to care for a child after birth or placement for adoption or foster care.

For the birth, adoption or foster care of a child, the company and the employee must mutually agree to the schedule before the employee may take the leave intermittently or work a reduced-hour schedule. Leave for birth, adoption or foster care of a child must be taken within one year of the birth or placement of the child.

When leave is needed for planned medical treatment, the employee must make a reasonable effort to schedule treatment so as not to unduly disrupt the company's operations.

Employee Notice Requirement

All employees requesting FMLA leave must provide verbal or written notice of the need for leave to the department manager or HR manager.

When the need for the leave is foreseeable, the employee must provide the company with at least 30 days' notice. When an employee becomes aware of a need for FMLA leave fewer than 30 days in advance, the employee must provide notice of the need for the leave either the same day the need for leave is discovered or the next business day. When the need for FMLA leave is not foreseeable, the employee must comply with the company's usual and customary notice and procedural requirements for requesting leave, absent unusual circumstances.

Within five business days after the employee has provided this notice, the HR manager will complete and provide the employee with a Notice of Eligibility and Rights and request a medical certification or other supporting documentation as necessary.

Designation of FMLA Leave

Within five business days after the employee has submitted the required certification or other documentation, the HR manager will complete and provide the employee with a written response to the employee's request for FMLA leave using the FMLA Designation Notice.

Employee Status and Benefits During Leave

The Company will continue an employee's health benefits during the leave period at the same level and under the same conditions as if the employee was continuously at work. While on paid leave, the employer will continue to make payroll deductions to collect the employee's share of insurance premiums, if applicable. While on unpaid leave, the employee must continue to make this payment, either in person or by mail. The payment must be received in the accounting department by the 15th day of each month. If the payment is more than 30 days late, the employee's health care coverage may be dropped for the duration of the leave.

The company will provide 15 days' notification prior to the employee's loss of coverage.

If the employee chooses not to return to work for reasons other than a continued serious health condition of the employee or the employee's family member or a circumstance beyond the employee's control, the company will require the employee to reimburse the company the amount it paid for the employee's health insurance premium during the leave period.

If the employee contributes to a life insurance or disability plan, the company will continue making payroll deductions while the employee is on paid leave. While the employee is on unpaid leave, the employee may request continuation of such benefits and pay his or her portion of the premiums, or the company may elect to maintain such benefits during the leave and pay the employee's share of the premium payments. If the employee does not continue these payments, the company will discontinue coverage during the leave. If the company maintains coverage, the company may recover the costs incurred for paying the employee's share of any premiums, whether or not the employee returns to work.

Employee Status After Leave

An employee who takes leave under this policy may be asked to provide a fitness for duty clearance from a health care provider. This requirement will be included in the company's response to the FMLA request. Generally, an employee who takes FMLA leave will be able to return to the same position or a position with equivalent status, pay, benefits and other employment terms. The position will be the same or one that is virtually identical in terms of pay, benefits and working conditions. The company may choose to exempt certain key employees from this requirement and not return them to the same or similar position when doing so will cause substantial and grievous economic injury to business operations. Key employees will be given written notice at the time FMLA leave is requested of his or her status as a key employee.

Use of Paid and Unpaid Leave

An employee who is taking FMLA leave because of the employee's own serious health condition or the serious health condition of a family member must use all paid vacation, personal or sick leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave. Sick leave may run concurrently with FMLA leave if the reason for the FMLA leave is covered by the established sick leave policy.

Disability leave for the birth of a child and for an employee's serious health condition, including workers' compensation leave (to the extent that it qualifies), will be designated as FMLA leave and will run concurrently with FMLA. For example, when an employee takes six weeks of The Company pregnancy disability leave, the six weeks will be designated as FMLA leave and counted toward the employee's 12-week entitlement. The employee will then be required to substitute accrued (or earned) paid leave as appropriate before being eligible for unpaid leave for what remains of the 12-week entitlement. An employee who is taking leave for the adoption or foster care of a child must use all paid vacation, personal or family leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave.

An employee who is using military FMLA leave for a qualifying exigency must use all paid vacation and personal leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave. An employee using FMLA military caregiver leave must also use all paid vacation, personal leave or sick leave (as long as the reason for the absence is covered by the company's sick leave policy) prior to being eligible for unpaid leave.

Intent to Return to Work from FMLA Leave

On a basis that does not discriminate against employees on FMLA leave, the company may require an employee on FMLA leave to report periodically on the employee's status and intent to return to work.

Definitions

Serious health condition means an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves inpatient care or continuing treatment by a health care provider. This can include conditions with short-term, chronic, long-term or permanent periods of incapacity.

Spouse means a husband or wife as defined or recognized in the state where the individual was married and includes individuals in a common law or same-sex marriage. Spouse also includes a husband or wife in a marriage that was validly entered into outside of the United States, if the marriage could have been entered into in at least one state.

Child means a biological, adopted or foster child, a stepchild, a legal ward, or a child of a person standing in loco parentis, who is either under age 18, or age 18 or older and "incapable of self-care because of a mental or physical disability" at the time that FMLA leave is to commence.

Parent means a biological, adoptive, step or foster father or mother, or any other individual who stood in loco parentis to the employee when the employee was a child. This term does not include parents "in law."

Qualifying exigency includes short-notice deployment, military events and activities, child care and school activities, financial and legal arrangements, counseling, rest and recuperation, post-deployment activities, and additional activities that arise out of active duty, provided that the employer and employee agree, including agreement on timing and duration of the leave.

Covered active duty for members of a regular component of the Armed Forces, means duty during deployment of the member with the Armed Forces to a foreign country. For a member of the Reserve components of the Armed Forces, means duty during the deployment of the member with the Armed Forces to a foreign country under a federal call or order to active duty in support of a contingency operation, in accordance with 29 CR 825.102.

The next of kin of a covered service member is the nearest blood relative, other than the covered service member's spouse, parent or child in the following order of priority: blood relatives who have been granted legal custody of the service member by court decree or statutory provisions, brothers and sisters, grandparents, aunts and uncles, and first cousins, unless the covered service member has specifically designated in writing another blood relative as his or her nearest blood relative for purposes of military caregiver leave under the FMLA.

Covered service member is a current member of the Armed Forces, including a member of the National Guard or Reserves, who is receiving medical treatment, recuperation or therapy, or is in outpatient status or on the temporary disability retired list for a serious injury or illness.

Serious injury or illness is one that is incurred by a service member in the line of duty on active duty that may cause the service member to be medically unfit to perform the duties of his or her office, grade, rank or rating. A serious injury or illness also includes injuries or illnesses that existed before the service member's active duty and that were aggravated by service in the line of duty on active duty.

F. Jury Duty

The Company encourages employees to fulfill their civic responsibilities by serving jury duty when required, and will not interfere, discharge, or discourage an employee who is summoned to serve on a jury. If desired, exempt/management employees may use any available paid time off (PTO) to cover time off for jury duty. Otherwise, jury duty will be unpaid regardless of the length of such duty.

Employees must show the jury duty summons to their supervisor as soon as possible so that the supervisor may make arrangements to accommodate their absence. Of course, employees are expected to report for work whenever the court schedule permits and as soon as practical after release from jury service. An employee taking a prescribed or over-the-counter narcotic or drug must advise his or her supervisor of its use and any potential side effects. The employee may either be allowed to remain on his or her job, be required to take a leave of absence or be subjected to other appropriate action as determined by management.

Tests

The Company reserves the right to conduct random, no-notice testing of current employees at any time it feels such actions are appropriate.

An employee will be required to undergo a blood test, urinalysis, "breath-analyzer" test or other diagnostic test under the following circumstances:

- As part of the hiring process in accordance with the pre-employment drug testing policy;
- After the occurrence of any work-related incident while on Company or corporate property or during working hours which requires medical attention other than first aid.

Any employee who violates any part of The Company's drug free workplace policy may be subject to discipline up to and including discharge.

Any employee convicted on a charge of illegal possession, use, distribution, purchase or sale of any controlled substance or alcohol, while off Company or corporate property and off duty, may be subject to discipline up to and including discharge; where The Company concludes that such conduct adversely affects services. In addition, The Company may impose discipline up to and including discharge for such off-duty conduct in the absence of a conviction where there is reasonable evidence of the commission of those acts and The Company concludes that such conduct adversely affects services.

Any employee who is charged with a violation of any criminal drug statute must notify his or her supervisor within 5 days of such charge. Criminal drug statutes include federal, state, and local laws involving the use of drugs (including controlled substances). Failure to report a charge will result in disciplinary action including termination from employment. A charge of violating any criminal drug statute may result in disciplinary action including termination.

An employee's refusal to submit immediately upon request to a search of his or her person and/or property or to a blood test, urinalysis, "breath-analyzer" test or other diagnostic test, or a positive result on such test(s) indicating prior use of intoxicants, alcohol, non-prescribed narcotics, hallucinogenic drugs, marijuana, or other non-prescribed controlled substances may result in disciplinary action up to and including immediate discharge.

Search

Where there is a reason to believe in the opinion of The Company that an employee is impaired by intoxicants, drugs or narcotics, or is in possession of any intoxicants, drugs, narcotics or equipment, products and materials which are used, intended for use, or designed for use with non-prescribed controlled substances, The Company may search any property and/or any employee's personal property which has been brought onto employer's property (including but not limited to vehicles, handbags, briefcases, etc.) and the employee may be requested to submit to a search by The Company representatives of his or her person and/or property.

The property covered by this policy includes property of any nature owned, controlled, or used by The Company, including but not limited to parking lots, offices, desks, file cabinets, lockers and vehicles.

N. Security Inspections

The Company wishes to maintain a work environment that is free of illegal drugs, alcohol, firearms, explosives, or other improper materials. To this end, The Company prohibits the possession, transfer, sale, or use of such materials on its premises. The Company requires the cooperation of all employees in administering this policy.

Desks, lockers, computers, software and other storage devices may be provided for the convenience of employees but remain the sole property of The Company. Accordingly, they, as well as any articles found within them, can be inspected by Management at any time, either with or without prior notice.

The Company likewise wishes to discourage theft or unauthorized possession of the property of employees, employer, visitors, and residents. To facilitate enforcement of this policy, The Company or its representative may inspect not only desks and lockers but also persons entering and/or leaving the premises and any packages or other belongings. Any employee who wishes to avoid inspection of any articles or materials should not bring such items onto The Company's premises.

Any employee who refuses to submit to a search, who fails to permit and facilitate a search, or who is found in possession of prohibited articles, will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including discharge as well as possible criminal prosecution.

P. Disciplinary Action

It is the policy of The Company to take appropriate disciplinary action when employees are found to have violated company policies, procedures, work rules, or otherwise conduct themselves in an unprofessional or inappropriate manner.

Appropriate disciplinary action may involve progressive disciplinary measures or may result in immediate discharge. Nothing in this policy changes the at-will nature of the employment relationship. The Company's policies, procedures, and work rules outlined in this employee manual are not all-inclusive and may be changed periodically at The Company's sole discretion. Employees may be required to periodically sign copies of company policies, procedures, and or work rules, including environmental, safety, and fire prevention rules.

There are certain policies and regulations which must be adhered to by all employees in order to maintain and operate a safe and functional operation. Most of the regulations are typical of those enforced in any organization. The circumstances surrounding a particular violation of policy rules are often as important as the action itself in determining the severity of the discipline called for. As a result, it is not possible to list all the causes of, or reasons for disciplinary action. The following are violations that could cause an employee to be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including discharge.

- Failure or unwillingness to perform work as required or directed.

Again, welcome to the team. I hope you find success and fulfillment in our company.

Sincerely,

If reasonable alternatives are not available or feasible, The Company may require one or both of the employees to resign or be terminated.)

II. EMPLOYMENT STATUS

A. Employment Categories

It is the intent of The Company to clarify the definitions of employment classifications so that employees understand their employment status and benefit eligibility. These classifications do not guarantee employment for any specified period of time. These categories are also subject to change as necessary from time to time.

The exemption applies to executive, administrative and professional employees as defined by the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act. Employees classified as exempt are excluded from the payment of overtime and are paid on a salary basis. An employee's EXEMPT or NONEXEMPT classification may be changed only upon written notification by The Company.

III. EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PROGRAMS AND LEAVE

A. Employee Benefits

Eligible employees are provided a wide range of benefits. A number of the programs (such as Social Security, and unemployment insurance) cover all employees in the manner prescribed by law.

Benefits eligibility is dependent upon a variety of factors, including employee classification. Management can identify the programs for which you are eligible. Details of many of these programs can be found elsewhere in the employee manual.

Requests for time off must be submitted to the location manager or Director of Operations in writing three weeks prior to the anticipated vacation day, unless otherwise not practicable.

The Company will make every effort to accommodate properly requested time off but does not guarantee every request.

Sick Leave/Paid Time Off for Managers Managers are eligible for up to two (2) paid sick days and one week (5 business days) Paid Time Off commensurate with their tenure and experience.

D. Benefits Continuation (COBRA)

The Company will abide by the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act ("COBRA") providing COBRA coverage for those employees who are qualified beneficiaries.

E. Family and Medical Leaves of Absence

The Company complies with the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and will grant up to 12 weeks of leave during a 12-month period to eligible employees (or up to 26 weeks of military caregiver leave).

The purpose of this policy is to provide employees with a general description of their FMLA rights. In the event of any conflict between this policy and the applicable law, employees will be afforded all rights required by law. If you have any questions, concerns or disputes with this policy, please contact Management.

Eligibility

To be eligible for leave under this policy, employees must meet all of the following requirements:

- Have worked at least twelve (12) months for The Company.
- Have worked at least 1,250 hours for The Company over the twelve (12) months preceding the date the leave would commence.
- Currently work at a location where there are at least fifty (50) employees within seventy-five (75) miles.

The 12 months of employment do not have to be consecutive. All periods of absence from work due to or necessitated by service in the uniformed services are counted as hours worked in determining eligibility.

Reasons for Leave

To qualify as FMLA leave under this policy, the leave must be for one of the following reasons:

- The birth of a child or placement of a child with the employee for adoption or foster care.
- To care for a spouse, child or parent who has a serious health condition.
- For a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the essential functions of his or her job.
- For any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that a spouse, child or parent is a military member on covered active duty or on call to covered active duty status.
- To care for a covered service member with a serious injury or illness.

Amount of Leave

An eligible employee can take up to 12 weeks of FMLA leave during any 12-month period. The company will measure the 12-month period as a rolling 12-month period measured backward from the date an employee uses any leave under this policy. Each time an employee takes leave, the company will compute the amount of leave the employee has taken under this policy in the last 12 months and subtract it from the 12 weeks of available leave, and the balance remaining is the amount the employee is entitled to take at that time.

An eligible employee can take up to 26 weeks for the FMLA military caregiver leave during a single 12-month period. For this military caregiver leave, the company will measure the 12-month period as a rolling 12-month period measured forward. FMLA leave already taken for other FMLA circumstances will be deducted from the total of 26 weeks available.

Eligible spouses who both work for the company may only take a combined total of 12 weeks of leave for the birth of a child, adoption or placement of a child in foster care, or to care for a parent (but not a parent "in-law") with a serious health condition. Both may only take a combined total of 26 weeks of leave to care for a covered injured or ill service member (if each spouse is a parent, spouse, child or next of kin of the service member).

Intermittent Leave or a Reduced Work Schedule

Employees may take FMLA leave in one consecutive block of time, may use the leave intermittently (take a day periodically when needed over the year) or, under certain circumstances, may use the leave to reduce the workweek or workday, resulting in a reduced hour schedule. In all cases, the leave may not exceed a total of 12 workweeks (or 26 workweeks to care for an injured or ill service member) in a 12-month period.

The company may temporarily transfer an employee to an available alternative position with equivalent pay and benefits if the alternative position would better accommodate the intermittent or reduced schedule, in instances when leave for the employee or employee's family member is foreseeable and for planned medical treatment, including recovery from a serious health condition or to care for a child after birth or placement for adoption or foster care.

For the birth, adoption or foster care of a child, the company and the employee must mutually agree to the schedule before the employee may take the leave intermittently or work a reduced-hour schedule. Leave for birth, adoption or foster care of a child must be taken within one year of the birth or placement of the child.

When leave is needed for planned medical treatment, the employee must make a reasonable effort to schedule treatment so as not to unduly disrupt the company's operations.

Employee Notice Requirement

All employees requesting FMLA leave must provide verbal or written notice of the need for leave to the department manager or HR manager.

When the need for the leave is foreseeable, the employee must provide the company with at least 30 days' notice. When an employee becomes aware of a need for FMLA leave fewer than 30 days in advance, the employee must provide notice of the need for the leave either the same day the need for leave is discovered or the next business day. When the need for FMLA leave is not foreseeable, the employee must comply with the company's usual and customary notice and procedural requirements for requesting leave, absent unusual circumstances.

Within five business days after the employee has provided this notice, the HR manager will complete and provide the employee with a Notice of Eligibility and Rights and request a medical certification or other supporting documentation as necessary.

Designation of FMLA Leave

Within five business days after the employee has submitted the required certification or other documentation, the HR manager will complete and provide the employee with a written response to the employee's request for FMLA leave using the FMLA Designation Notice.

Employee Status and Benefits During Leave

The Company will continue an employee's health benefits during the leave period at the same level and under the same conditions as if the employee was continuously at work. While on paid leave, the employer will continue to make payroll deductions to collect the employee's share of insurance premiums, if applicable. While on unpaid leave, the employee must continue to make this payment, either in person or by mail. The payment must be received in the accounting department by the 15th day of each month. If the payment is more than 30 days late, the employee's health care coverage may be dropped for the duration of the leave.

The company will provide 15 days' notification prior to the employee's loss of coverage.

If the employee chooses not to return to work for reasons other than a continued serious health condition of the employee or the employee's family member or a circumstance beyond the employee's control, the company will require the employee to reimburse the company the amount it paid for the employee's health insurance premium during the leave period.

If the employee contributes to a life insurance or disability plan, the company will continue making payroll deductions while the employee is on paid leave. While the employee is on unpaid leave, the employee may request continuation of such benefits and pay his or her portion of the premiums, or the company may elect to maintain such benefits during the leave and pay the employee's share of the premium payments. If the employee does not continue these payments, the company will discontinue coverage during the leave. If the company maintains coverage, the company may recover the costs incurred for paying the employee's share of any premiums, whether or not the employee returns to work.

Employee Status After Leave

An employee who takes leave under this policy may be asked to provide a fitness for duty clearance from a health care provider. This requirement will be included in the company's response to the FMLA request. Generally, an employee who takes FMLA leave will be able to return to the same position or a position with equivalent status, pay, benefits and other employment terms. The position will be the same or one that is virtually identical in terms of pay, benefits and working conditions. The company may choose to exempt certain key employees from this requirement and not return them to the same or similar position when doing so will cause substantial and grievous economic injury to business operations. Key employees will be given written notice at the time FMLA leave is requested of his or her status as a key employee.

Use of Paid and Unpaid Leave

An employee who is taking FMLA leave because of the employee's own serious health condition or the serious health condition of a family member must use all paid vacation, personal or sick leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave. Sick leave may run concurrently with FMLA leave if the reason for the FMLA leave is covered by the established sick leave policy.

Disability leave for the birth of a child and for an employee's serious health condition, including workers' compensation leave (to the extent that it qualifies), will be designated as FMLA leave and will run concurrently with FMLA. For example, when an employee takes six weeks of The Company pregnancy disability leave, the six weeks will be designated as FMLA leave and counted toward the employee's 12-week entitlement. The employee will then be required to substitute accrued (or earned) paid leave as appropriate before being eligible for unpaid leave for what remains of the 12-week entitlement. An employee who is taking leave for the adoption or foster care of a child must use all paid vacation, personal or family leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave.

An employee who is using military FMLA leave for a qualifying exigency must use all paid vacation and personal leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave. An employee using FMLA military caregiver leave must also use all paid vacation, personal leave or sick leave (as long as the reason for the absence is covered by the company's sick leave policy) prior to being eligible for unpaid leave.

Intent to Return to Work from FMLA Leave

On a basis that does not discriminate against employees on FMLA leave, the company may require an employee on FMLA leave to report periodically on the employee's status and intent to return to work.

F. Jury Duty

The Company encourages employees to fulfill their civic responsibilities by serving jury duty when required, and will not interfere, discharge, or discourage an employee who is summoned to serve on a jury. If desired, exempt/management employees may use any available paid time off (PTO) to cover time off for jury duty. Otherwise, jury duty will be unpaid regardless of the length of such duty.

Employees must show the jury duty summons to their supervisor as soon as possible so that the supervisor may make arrangements to accommodate their absence. Of course, employees are expected to report for work whenever the court schedule permits and as soon as practical after release from jury service. Either The Company or the employee may request an excuse from jury duty if, in employer's judgment, the employee's absence would create serious operational difficulties.

The employee must notify his or her supervisor each day he or she is scheduled to report for jury duty.

Jury Duty leave is unpaid. The employee may elect to utilize vacation time for all or part of the jury duty.

G. Time Off To Vote

The Company encourages employees to fulfill their civic responsibilities by participating in elections. Generally, employees are able to find time to vote either before or after their regular work schedule. If employees are unable to vote in an election during their non-working hours, employer will grant up to 2 hours of paid time off to vote.

Employees should request time off to vote from their supervisor at least 2 working days prior to the Election Day. Advance notice is required so that the necessary time off can be scheduled at the beginning or end of the work shift, whichever provides the least disruption to the normal work schedule.

H. Military Leave

A military leave of absence will be granted to employees who are absent from work because of service in the U.S. uniformed services in accordance with the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). Advance notice of military service is required, unless military necessity prevents such notice, or it is otherwise impossible or unreasonable.

Military leave will be unpaid. However, employees may use any paid leave otherwise available to employee in accordance with other provisions of this manual. However, benefit accruals, such as paid time off (PTO) or holiday benefits, will be suspended during any military leave and will resume upon the employee's return to active employment.

Employees on military leave for up to 30 days are required to return to work for the first regularly scheduled shift after the end of service, allowing reasonable travel time. Employees on longer military leave must apply for reinstatement in accordance with USERRA and all applicable state laws. Employees returning from military leave will be placed in the position they would have attained had they remained continuously employed or a comparable one depending on the length of military service in accordance with USERRA. They will be treated as though they were continuously employed for purposes of determining benefits based on length of service.

I. Lactation Breaks

The break time should, if possible, be taken concurrently with other break periods already provided. Non-exempt employees should clock out for any time taken that does not run concurrently with normally scheduled rest periods, and such time generally will be unpaid, in accordance with state law. The Company will also make a reasonable effort to provide the employee with the use of a room or other location in close proximity to the employee's work area, for the employee to express milk in private.

Employees should accurately record the time they begin and end their work. They should also record the beginning and ending time of any split shift or departure from work for personal reasons, including but not limited to leaving the Company for a meal break.

To begin the ADA or PWFA accommodation process, the Employee should request an accommodation from management. Management may require the Employee's medical provider to complete an Accommodation Request Form and verify the alleged disability. All medial information obtained by the Company during this process will remain confidential.

Upon receipt of the request, the Company will determine whether the accommodation can be made in accordance with applicable law and dependent upon whether the requested accommodation places an undue hardship on the Company or poses and direct threat to the safety of the Employee or others.

The Company has a vital interest in maintaining a safe, healthy, and efficient working environment for its employees - a working environment as free from the use of illegal and non-prescription drugs, alcohol and unauthorized use of prescription drugs as reasonably possible.

Employees with drug and alcohol abuse problems make up only a fraction of the work force, and we regret any inconvenience that may be caused to other employees by the problems of a few. However, being under the influence of drugs or alcohol, and/or being intoxicated on the job, poses serious health and safety risks, not only to the user but also to all who come in contact with the user. The benefits to be derived from reducing the number of accidents and the greater safety of all the employees and residents make up for the inconvenience. Each employee is expected and required to report to work in an appropriate mental and physical condition to perform his or her assigned duties.

The Company defines "intoxication" pursuant to Sec. 401.013(a), Texas Labor Code.

- All employees are additionally expected to use all systems in a way that does not violate the employment policies stated in this manual, including but not limited to unlawful harassment, workplace violence, and breach of confidentiality.

A. Acceptable Use of Electronic Communications

This policy contains guidelines for Electronic Communications created, sent, received, used, transmitted, or stored using company communication systems or equipment and employee provided systems or equipment used either in the workplace, during working time or to accomplish work tasks during working time. "Electronic Communications" include, among other things, messages, images, data or any other information used in e-mail, instant messages, voice mail, fax machines, computers, personal digital assistants (including Blackberry, iPhone, iPad, tablet, smart phone or similar devices), text messages, pagers, telephones, cellular and mobile phones including those with cameras, Intranet, Internet, back-up storage, information on a memory or flash key or card, jump or zip drive or any other type of internal or external removable storage drives. In the remainder of this policy, all of these communication devices are collectively referred to as "Systems."

Employees may not use our Systems in a manner that violates our policies including but not limited to Equal Employment Opportunity, No Harassment, Confidentiality of Customer Matters, Care of Customer Records, Non-Solicitation, and Distribution. Employees may not use our Systems in any way that may be seen as insulting, disruptive, obscene, offensive, or harmful to morale. Examples of prohibited uses include, but are not limited to, sexually-explicit drawings, messages, images, cartoons, or jokes; propositions or love letters; ethnic or racial slurs, threats of violence or bullying, or derogatory comments; or any other message or image that may be in violation of company policies or federal, state, or local law.

In addition, employees may not use our Systems:

- To download, save, send or access any discriminatory or obscene material;
- To download anything from the internet (including shareware or free software) without the advance written permission of your Manager;
- To download, save, send, or access any site or content that the company might deem "adult entertainment;"

Employees must always respect intellectual property rights such as copyrights and trademarks. Employees must not copy, use, or transfer trade secrets or proprietary materials of the company or others without appropriate authorization.

Nothing in this policy is meant to restrict an employee's right to discuss the terms and conditions of his/her employment during non-working hours using non-company systems.

B. Telephone Use Policy

It is the policy of The Company to implement and maintain phone service systems to meet the needs of customers, clients, and employees.

The Company's telephones are not to be used for personal calls except in case of emergency. Family and friends of employees should be instructed that an employee cannot receive telephone calls when on duty.

Personal cell phones must be kept on "silent" and in designated area. They may not be set out on the table or prep area.

The Company is in the guest service business and should keep Company phones free for conducting business. When employees are preoccupied with text messages and personal calls, the Company's guests and business suffer.

A manager or shift leader must approve phone calls during a tipped employee's shift (there are exceptions: parents, people caring for older or ill relatives, etc.). Tipped employees may share the restaurant's main land line telephone number with family as an emergency contact. Local personal calls on the Company phones are permitted, but should be only for a minute or two and restricted to times that are less busy. Remember that personal calls on land lines should be kept brief and not be distraction to serving our guests.

Personal long-distance calls are prohibited from Company telephones at all times.

C. Camera and Other Recording Devices Policy

The Company prohibits the use of cameras, tape recorders, or other recording devices on company property without permission. The purpose is to protect the privacy of all employees and to ensure the security of confidential business information.

The Company reserves the right to install surveillance cameras for legitimate business purposes such as ensuring security or preventing theft.

The Company will not install cameras in areas where privacy is necessary, such as restrooms or changing areas. However, employees should not have an expectation of privacy on company property, especially in common or public areas.

Employees in violation of this policy will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

D. Cell Phone Policy

Company employees are not permitted to use their personal cell phones and related features for personal reasons while on work duty, except in emergency situations.

E. Software Policy

The Company respects all computer software copyrights and to adhere to the terms of all software licenses to which The Company is a party.

Employees may not duplicate any licensed software or related documentation for use either on employer's premises or elsewhere unless employer is expressly authorized to do so by agreement with the licensor. Unauthorized duplication of software may subject employee and/or The Company to both civil and criminal penalties under the United States Copyright Act.

Employees may not give software to any outsiders. Employees may use software on local area networks or on multiple machines only in accordance with applicable license agreements.

F. Employee Internet Usage Policy

All e-mail and internet information/language/etc. must comply with company policies and procedures, including, but not limited to, those on harassment, copyright law, trade secrets, confidentiality, and The Company disclosure agreement.

Internet access by employees while working is limited to the Company's official business. The introduction of viruses, or malicious tampering with any computer system, is expressly prohibited. Any such activity will immediately result in termination of employment.

Employees using The Company's accounts are acting as representatives of The Company. As such, employees should act accordingly so as not to damage the reputation of the organization.

Files which are downloaded from the Internet must be scanned with virus detection software before installation or execution. All appropriate precautions should be taken to detect for a virus and, if necessary, to prevent its spread.

The truth or accuracy of information on the Internet and in e-mail should be considered suspect until confirmed by a separate reliable source.

Employees shall not place company material (copyrighted software, internal correspondence, etc.) on any publicly accessible Internet computer without prior permission.

Alternate Internet Service Provider connections to The Company's Internet network are not permitted unless expressly authorized and properly protected by a firewall or other appropriate security device(s).

The Internet does not guarantee the privacy and confidentiality of information. Sensitive material transferred over the Internet may be at risk of detection by a third-party. Employees must exercise caution and care when transferring such material in any form.

Unless otherwise noted, all software on the Internet should be considered copyrighted work. Therefore, employees are prohibited from downloading software and/or modifying any such files without permission from the copyright holder.

Any infringing activity by an employee may be the responsibility of The Company. Therefore, The Company may choose to hold the employee liable for their actions.

The Company reserves the right to inspect an employee's computer system for violations of this policy.

Employees are subject to disciplinary action, including termination, for using the internet or viewing any downloaded materials in any way that would result in a violation of law or The Company's other policies set forth in this manual, including but not limited to unlawful harassment or discrimination toward another employee, workplace violence prevention, and interfering with an employee's work performance and job responsibilities.
